Navistar Announces New Appointment to Executive Leadership Dan Kayser to lead Commercial Operations

LISLE, Ill., June 18, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- Building on a strong team of commercial transportation and change management leaders, Navistar, Inc. (Navistar) today announces a new appointment to its executive leadership team, effective as of July 1.

Dan Kayser joins as executive vice president, Commercial Operations. As a new member of the executive leadership team, Kayser will work collaboratively with the group to execute on Navistar's enterprise strategy and drive positive results in critical areas, particularly customer satisfaction, employee experience, financial performance, and efficiency. His efforts in guiding the organization through transformative change helps to secure Navistar's position in the transportation value chain and furthers progress on the company's vision to accelerate the impact of sustainable mobility.

"I offer my congratulations to Dan on his appointment as Commercial Operations leader," said Mathias Carlbaum, president and CEO. "He has proven himself to be an exceptional leader with strong expertise in commercial vehicles and operational effectiveness. I look forward to working with him more closely to deliver on Navistar's transformative journey, which is already well underway."

As head of Commercial Operations, Kayser is responsible for the sales and marketing areas of the business. He is tasked with leading the transformation of the Commercial team to drive customer satisfaction and secure the value of International and IC Bus today and into the future.

Throughout his 30-year career, Kayser has showcased skill in driving business growth, optimizing efficiencies, and creating value. Most recently he served as group vice president, National Accounts at Navistar where he led the company's direct sales business. Kayser has held additional roles in sales and dealer management, including a front-line dealer sales representative at two independent International dealerships.

"I am honored and humbled to step into this new role," said Kayser. "I am confident in this company, our dealer partners, and our leadership and believe that we are jointly committed to taking actions to deliver value and meet the needs of our customers."
