

IC BUS AWARDS SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS FOR 2019

LISLE, Ill. (August 26, 2019) – IC Bus recently announced the winners of its annual IC Bus Scholarships. These scholarships, which are awarded to family members of IC Bus® dealer employees, are a collaborative effort between IC Bus and its dealer network to demonstrate the company’s commitment to support further education in the communities where its employee live and work.

This year, eleven high school students around the United States and Canada received part of over $20,000 to go towards their upcoming college education. Of the eleven, three memorial scholarships were awarded to honor the leadership of past influential IC Bus dealer principals:

This year's winners include:

Kyle Mansfield – Harlow Hageness Scholarship, Midwest Transit Equipment, Inc.

Shanna Ciongoli – Richard Wolfington, Sr. Scholarship, Wolfington Body Company

Morgan Lash – Holly Hoglund Klein Scholarship, RWC Alaska

Aimee Boudreau – Carolina International Trucks, Inc.

Cade Jochum – Cornhusker International Trucks, Inc

Joseph Vance – Mid-State Truck Service, Inc.

Alicia Baumann – Midwest Transit Equipment, Inc.

Courtney Campbell – Ward International Trucks, Inc.

Mollikate Keehley – Waters Truck & Tractor Co., Inc.

Tanner Greenaway – Western Canada Bus

Emily Yost – Wolfington Body Company

“While our primary focus as a company may be transporting students to and from school safely each day, our support does not stop when they get off the bus,” said Trish Reed, vice president and general manager, IC Bus. “An education is an invaluable resource, and IC Bus is proud to play a part in helping the children of our dealers and their employees across the country reach their career aspirations through these scholarships.”
