Media Alert: International Dealer Technicians to Compete in Third Annual Technician Rodeo

Who: International Dealer Technicians

What: In a head-to-head, hands-on test of their technical skill and speed, eight of the top service technicians in the International® dealer network will compete to determine who is the best of the best at the Third annual Navistar Service-Technician Rodeo on June 18.

Where: International dealer technicians from across North America will gather at Universal Technical Institute in Glendale Heights, Ill., to compete at stations simulating service areas for air conditioning, brakes, drive train, electrical and MaxxForce® engines.

Additional Information: Following the competition, photographs from a professional photographer will be available. They will be uploaded to a website for download. Anyone interested in the photographs may send me a request to be sent a link to the site. A full press release will be issued the day after announcing the winner of the competition. Please see the attached document for further details.
